

One Candidate for School Board Makes the Grade.

COALITION for
SCHOOL REFORM

District 6 Candidate Report Card

F

Maria Cano

Maria Cano was public relations spin doctor for one of LAUSD's most wasteful divisions, where she advocated for building the most expensive school in American history at over $500 million,¹ while the District cut art and PE and laid off thousands of teachers.

A-EXCELLENT B-GOOD C-AVERAGE
D-UNSATISFACTORY F-FAILING

COALITION for
SCHOOL REFORM

District 6 Candidate Report Card

F

Monica Ratliff

Ratliff opposes allowing local school officials to immediately remove – and, if convicted, fire – teachers or school staff accused of sexually abusing students.²

A-EXCELLENT B-GOOD C-AVERAGE
D-UNSATISFACTORY F-FAILING

COALITION for
SCHOOL REFORM

District 6 Candidate Report Card

A

Antonio Sanchez

As a Pacima Middle and San Fernando High graduate, educator and community organizer Antonio Sanchez knows local schools and will fight for Valley classrooms and students.

A-EXCELLENT B-GOOD C-AVERAGE
D-UNSATISFACTORY F-FAILING

Antonio Sanchez for School Board

A product of local public schools, Antonio spent the past decade advocating on behalf of local families as an educator and community organizer, including serving as East San Fernando Valley Area Director for Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa. On the School Board, Antonio will make sure local schools and students come first and new Prop 30 funds go as promised – to the classroom, not the Downtown bureaucracy.

1 http://www.laschools.org/project-status/one-project?project_number=55.98046; The Daily News of Los Angeles, November 16, 2010

2 <http://laschoolreport.com/forum/#more-4820>

Antonio Sanchez: A Voice for the Valley

District 6 Candidate Report Card

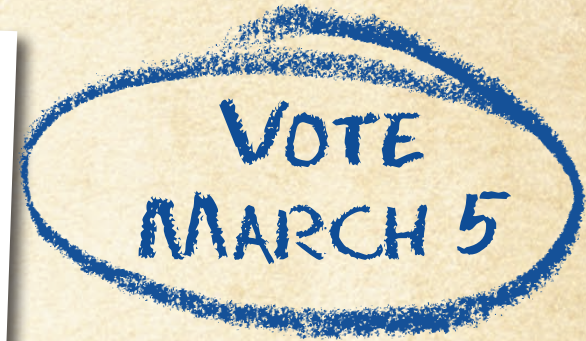

A	He'll cut Downtown bureaucracy and make sure Valley schools get their fair share.
A	Specific plan to reduce the dropout rate and improve school safety.
A	Better job training so students have more practical skills when they graduate.
A	After-school programs that keep kids out of trouble and prepare them for college and career.

ANTONIO SANCHEZ

For District 6

SCHOOL BOARD

Antonio Sanchez Will Fight for Valley Schools.